Open ended expression ~ Encouraging children to communicate to one another ~ Establishing boundaries and limits that make sense to the children ~ Positive reinforcements and logical consequences

- B. 9am – 11:30am Lynn Reside – “Social/Emotional Learning”

As the Early Years Community Development Coordinator in the North Okanagan Lynn Reside works with 10 community coalitions and 35 medium and small rural and remote communities to engage stakeholders in increasing community capacity to meet the needs of families with young children aged-0-6.

- C. 1pm – 3:30pm Allison Rees – “Side stepping the power struggle”

Sidestepping the Power Struggle is a practical, hands on course for professionals interacting with children. It explains why kids of all ages, act the way they do, and gives you tools to work with your own children and their unique temperaments. You'll learn why power struggles take place, how to teach responsibility as well as surrendering “kid issues” to the kids. Stop fighting needless battles while still keeping the framework of limits clear and “not up for grabs.”

- D. 1pm – 3:30pm Danielle Davis – “Images of Design”

We will open this workshop by provoking thought on how environments can affect well-being by engaging participants in reflection on spaces they feel good in. We engage in discussion on our childcare environments, what areas in our centers work and what areas seem to attract chaos. A variety of images from many centers will be presented for participants to reflect on. We will facilitate dialogue around the values we hold about children and how the environment and materials can help support those values, and we will engage participants in some hands on activities. Our goal is to excite participants to rethink their environments and imagine new possibilities
